

Trainers who entered previously but not in 2021

The 2022 Lycetts Leadership & Team Champions Awards have launched, and you have until Friday 8 April to get your entries in.

Since you last entered the awards, the process has been very much simplified and enables you to put forward your processes and experiences in your own words. We suggest you review our 'Simple Steps to entering the Lycetts Leadership and Team Champions Awards', the 2 video's delivered by Dana Mellor and some additional advice on adding anecdotes and answering the questions.

Help and advice

To get the most from the experience, free consultations are available with Shelley Perham. Book a consultation with Shelley to go through the entry process and what the judges are looking for. Book now: s.perham@racehorsetrainers.org.

We also post regular tips and advice on the official Lycetts Awards social media channels, follow us on Twitter & Instagram.

How to enter

Enter the Awards via the NTF website. You will find entry forms and more info at <http://www.racehorsetrainers.org/industry/teamchampion.asp>.

Award categories:

- Lycetts Leadership Award

This award is for licensed British trainers. There are four sections that make up the Lycetts Leadership Award and all are Excellence Awards. These sections are based on The Winning Approach, a set of industry standards in management and employment practices. Trainers can enter just one or multiple sections.

Prize: £4,000 awaits the winning Trainer to spend on their business

- Lycetts Team Champions Award

This award provides an opportunity for racing staff to tell us about their team and to gain the recognition they deserve. The Lycetts Team Champions Award recognises and celebrates the best teams on racehorse training yards, regardless of the size of the yard and from the staff's perspective.

Prize: £4,000 awaits the winning team.
